

Cleaning a Form Upon Submit

By: Mosh Hamedani

When we save the new user, we need to mark the form as clean or pristine, so we can navigate away from this page without getting the confirmation box for dirty tracking.

Currently, Angular does not support cleaning the state of the form, but soon we'll have a method on the ControlGroup class, called markAsPristine().

So, when you create the new user, you should call:

```
this.form.markAsPristine();
```

You can read more about this here:

<https://github.com/angular/angular/pull/6679>